Local Consultation

The 2008-11 Local Policing Plan has been drawn up taking account of those priorities for policing identified by Surrey residents. Authority members have considered the results of the 2007 Neighbourhood Policing Plan survey carried out by Surrey Police, as well as the results from the Surrey Police Authority postal, newspaper and online surveys and feedback from the Expo events and Youth Conference, when setting this year's targets. Full details of the consultation results can be obtained from the Authority's secretariat.

Policing Plan Regulations – Other Requirements

Many of the requirements of the Policing Plan Regulations (2008) have been demonstrated in the main body of the Local Policing Plan and in the tables included within this annex. More information on those issues we have not included in our plan is set out overleaf:

Policing Plan Regulation Requirement	Further Information
Action taken or action planned to address the findings from audit and inspection reports, or following direction from the Home Secretary	A number of bodies make recommendations to the Force and Authority following inspections and audits, including Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and the Audit Commission. These are entered onto the Force Recommendations Database (FRD) which is used to track their progress. Once a recommendation has been satisfactorily dealt with it is discharged from the active database. Live recommendations on the FRD are reviewed quarterly by the Force and the Authority's Audit Committee.
Information on planned increases in efficiency and productivity and how the Force proposes to meet any target set for	Surrey Police submitted a three-year efficiency plan to the Home Office in April 2007 for 2007/08 – 2009/10. Surrey Police has achieved or exceeded the target in each of the eight years up to and including 2006/07, and plans to maintain this for the

increased efficiency and productivity	current year and three-year plan. Progress against the plan is monitored by the Authority's Finance and Performance Panel. In addition, both the Authority's treasurer and the chief constable are required to certify any cashable gains identified.
Information on collaborative working between Surrey and other forces	Collaborative working between Surrey and other forces covers a number of areas of business. The Surrey/Sussex collaboration project on protective services developed detailed proposals for an Integrated Special Operations Command, which would integrate all protective services under a single unified command. Following an intensive review of the protective services in both forces, each force's view of the potential operational benefits from the integrated command differed and it was agreed that the Command was not achievable. However, many benefits have developed from the closer working over the past 18 months and these will not be lost. The two forces will continue to explore opportunities on protective services to improve the services provided to local residents. A wider south east collaboration programme on protective services continues to progress. The Force's Protective Service Gap Analysis and Action Plan, against which we will be inspected, identify ongoing areas where there are opportunities for collaboration with other forces. Aside from protective services, the Force continues to explore opportunities for collaboration in the delivery of back office services and procurement.

Planned improvements in the delivery of protective services	The Force is developing a Protective Services Action Plan. The plan is a restricted document, but will be scrutinised by the Authority's Control of Crime panel.
Out-turn information for Statutory Performance Indicators (SPIs)	Details to be published on the Authority's website.
Equality and Human Rights	Both the Force and the Authority have published equality schemes that are available online or by contacting the Authority's secretariat. The Authority is working with the Force to ensure compliance with the Human Rights Act and appropriate scrutiny across relevant areas of Force business.
